

ABOUT US

The establishment of National Institute of Fisheries Post Harvest Technology and Training (NIFPHATT) erstwhile Indo-Norwegian Project (1952) and later Integrated Fisheries Project, opened a new chapter in the fish production history of India. One of the pioneer institutes of Fisheries in India with HQ in Kochi. NIFPHATT has a unit in Visakhapatnam. Introduced mechanised fishing techniques, hygienic handling and preservation methods.

SOME FACILITIES

Fish Landing Facility

Canning Facility

Rural Outreach

Gender & Rural Development

Frozen Product Development

Test Marketing & Popularisation

Training

OBJECTIVES

- Value added product development by way of process and product diversification
- Technology development and transfer to beneficiaries consisting of rural fishermen community, small scale industries and export processing plants.
- Imparting training in the fields of post-harvest technology, refrigeration technology, quality control and value added products
- Providing consultancies and training for rural development programmes and women empowerment programmes in fish processing technology
- Popularisation and test marketing of value added products
- Extension of the activities for enthusing entrepreneurs to enter into seafood processing industry